What do General Auxiliary leaders do?

General Auxiliary leaders oversee specific organizations and programs. They travel the world training local leaders and working with them to learn more about their communities and the needs of the people. They also get to know the members by making individual home visits. General Auxiliary leaders represent the needs and interests of members by serving on Church leadership councils, executive committees, and boards. They also contribute ideas to Church messaging and help review Church materials, such as Come, Follow Me and Church magazines. These faithful leaders work hard to make sure the needs of all of God’s children are met.
General conference is a great way to get inspiration and guidance. You’ll have an even better experience when you prepare in advance to receive personal revelation. Start preparing!

Q&A:

- MY QUESTION:
  - Write down what you want to understand a little better about the gospel. Then record your answers and impressions during conference.

Want to help yourself focus on conference—and have a little fun while you do it? Create your own conference game!

Before conference, write a topic in each square. As you watch, listen for those topics and cover the square with a token when its topic is mentioned. You can use anything for a token—but for extra fun, try a piece of candy or chocolate! Choose your own patterns to win—five across, down, or diagonally; four corners; center nine; etc.

Each member of your family can create their own game card. Winner gets to eat their candy tokens. And the best part is, once someone wins, you can start over right away! For an extra level of difficulty, make more than one card.

Looking for topic ideas? Consider things like “temple,” “Come, Follow Me,” “repentance,” or when a speaker is mentioned by name by another speaker.
Now that conference is finally here, listen for answers. Write down promptings, look for promised blessings, and pay extra attention to things you feel impressed to work on. Jot down quotes that inspire you, and take note of messages that really stick out to you.
